Summary: This is a poem that I wrote a while back. Note: Tracy and Link are at the beach. Warning: very short poem!

First Fire

Note: I do not own Hairspray or any of the characters

Note: I do not own Hairspray or any of the characters. But I do own this poem that I wrote.

This is a poem I wrote for an English assignment and after watching Hairspray I thought it would fit nicely. It's supposed to Tracy and Link walking along the beach together. Hope you it!

First Fire

A girl stands on a beach

In her bathing suit she exposes

A face all-clear of loneliness

She breathes out a quiet sigh

Her hands are warm

She wears sunglasses

She will not have to walk home alone, alone

Along the simmering scorching street

First fire. The very first time

The first time of two pairs of footprints in the sand

Tears of warmth from inside stream down her cheeks

The first fire of human love.

The End.
